

JPEC OVERVIEW

Outreach Program in the Schools

Jazz Performance and Education Centre (JPEC) is a not-for-profit, charitable arts organization dedicated to the continued development of jazz in Canada. JPEC's highly successful Music in the Schools Program covers the cost of bringing musicians into schools that qualify for the program in high needs and underserved areas, with limited or no formal music program.

Musicians present workshops, which examine the various components of jazz; the roles of various instruments; the importance of improvisation; composition and more.

Workshops are available for students at any grade level or combination of grade levels from elementary to high school, at no cost to the school.
